When It Comes to Winter Skin Care, Trust the Swedes

Three Nordic grooming lines you should be using.

As you slog through the cruelest months of the year, don't forget that hats and scarves alone won't save you from the elements. A good skin-care regimen will keep you from looking like a chapped mess come April, and if you're in the market for new products, it's smart to start with brands based in icy climes like Sweden. Below, three of our favorites.

Recipe for Men

Founded by three Swedish skiers (one of whom is an Olympian freestyler), Recipe products were first formulated to handle the damage done on the slopes but work just as well if you're only commuting in winter. There's a roster of solid options, but the collagen-packed Under Eye Patches are a must if you're trying to combat the effects of a long night out.
