

Men's Health GROOMING

FITNESS ▾SEX & WOMEN ▾HEALTH ▾NUTRITION ▾WEIGHT LOSS ▾STYLE ▾VIDEO ▾

STYLE NEWS

New skincare imported from Australia, England and Sweden has taken root on U.S. soil, and they're here to stay, Green Card or not. But unlike that weird foreign exchange student who stayed with your family in high school, these products will improve your life—and your look. Here are a few of our favorite imported brands.

While you're at it, check out our Grooming Awards for products and trends that'll have you looking world-class.

Mr.

Aussie Hugh Jackman might be a fan of the brand, but don't let his debonair ways fool you. With natural ingredients derived from indigenous Australian plants these products are for the everyman. Try the chamomile cleanser, which reduces inflammation and removes any pore-clogging impurities that accumulated throughout your day.

Recipe for Men

Though they've been testing products specifically for men's skin for 20 years, America recently took notice of the organic Swedish brand. The recipes are tailored to shaving-induced roughness and dehydration, and the all-natural ingredients will feel fresher than a breath of Scandinavian air.

Wingman

Remember that time your wingman met a hot model and left you in the dirt? UK-based Wingman's wipes won't let you down. Use them to eliminate sweat and grime before an important date or meeting, or just at the end of a stressful day. Then go talk to your hot colleague in the neighboring office.

MHTODAY IN GROOMING

Tuesday, July 10

Go Global: International Skincare Brands

The latest grooming imports will leave your skin looking fresh and feeling smooth ▶